Kelly Beamish

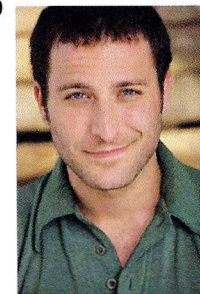

Kelly is a graduate from the prestigious Oklahoma City University where she earned her Bachelor of Performing Arts in dance performance. Upon graduation from OCU, Kelly settled in Los Angeles pursuing her career as a professional dancer.

Kelly took part in Bo Bice's first music video "The Real Thing." She can also be seen as a featured performer in Ice Cube's comeback video "Race Card." While in LA, she performed in Disney's "The High School Musical" and was a member of the Los Angeles Lakers Summer Pro League Dance Team. Kelly has also toured nationwide with the "Curtis Adams Magic that Rocks Show" and was featured in a NASCAR California Speedway commercial.

While continuing to work as a professional dancer, Kelly also travels around the US choreographing and teaching. She has been a faculty member of the "EV3" in studio dance workshops and "PDE" Platinum Dance Experience Tour, and most recently, she joined the faculty of Dance Olympus.

Kelly is a very encouraging and positive role model. She loves to share her passion for dance, whether it's through performing or teaching, and hopes to be able to do it for as long as she can.

Nick Drago

Nick Drago, a native Texan and graduate of Oklahoma City University, now resides in Los Angeles as a professional dancer and actor. He has appeared in music videos including: Jessica Simpson's "Boots," My Chemical Romance's "Helena," Finger Eleven's "Paralyzer," Duran Duran's "Falling Down," and most recently with Melody Gardot in "Baby I'm a Fool."

Some of Drago's television credits include Scrubs, The Hollow Men, Viva Laughlin, The Oprah Winfrey Show, MTV's VMAs, Fashion Rocks, and Terminator: The Sarah Connor Chronicles, How I Met Your Mother, & Glee. He has appeared in Zombie Prom the movie, Alvin & The Chipmunks (as Theodore's Dance Double), The Oogieloves in the Big Balloon Adventure (J Edgar), Hop with Russell Brand, The Muppets, and various other spots on The History Channel, Comedy Central, VH1, The Idea Network, and NBC. He has appeared on the Emmy's, Spike TV's Video Game Awards with Neil Patrick Harris, and The People's Choice Awards with Queen Latifa.

In addition to his film and television work, Nick has appeared with Adam Parson's Commonality Dance Company, as well as performing for national and international audiences in Jeff Amsden's A Few Good Men Dancin', as Gene Kelly in "The Good Steno" with Paul Ben-Victor. His interest in health and nutrition has given him the opportunity to model for Men's Fitness Magazine and XM Radio. Drago can also be seen in Jillian Michael's (The Biggest Loser) Fitness and Training videos.

Commercially, Drago has worked with Exxon gasoline, Jagermeister, MBNA, and San Miguel Beer. A dancer in such industrials for Harley Davidson and Liberty Mutual, he has also worked with, music and film stars, Jamie Pressly, Chazz Palminteri, Christopher Lloyd, Ru Paul, Brittany Murphy, Mariah Carey, Jem, One Republic, and Rihanna. Nick can also be seen on season one of Bravo's "Step It Up & Dance."

Excited to continue his career in film and television, Drago also enjoys teaching and choreographing as the co-founder of Flow 40 Dance Workshops.
